Chapter 1

Authors Note

This is my very first fanfiction so bare with me please. I own nothing except the plot. All characters belong to Nick. Enjoy the story 😊😊😊

Zuko's POV

All I could do to contain my anger was ruthlessly attack the firebenders surrounding me. I no longer cared who or what I injured. I was just about to spit fire towards Chu a very devoted firebender, until I felt a hand touch my shoulder I turned towards the person and was about to attack until I saw those kind gold eyes looking back at me. I hung my head in defeat and sighed there stood my uncle Iroh the only man who has ever believed in me and is more of a father to me than my own. "Uncle what is it?" I said with a huff "Nephew you need to stop this it is not okay to injure those loyal to you." " I realize this Uncle I'm just so enraged that I can't capture the avatar" I yelled as fire shot out of my hands toward a practice dummy that was severely burnt from all my other rants. "Nephew I always say the only thing better than finding something you were looking for, is finding something you weren't looking for at a great bargain!" "We have no time for your proverbs, uncle! Just tell me what you mean." "Fine instead of kidnapping the Avatar why not kidnap someone close to him then use them as bait." I sighed "like who Uncle... The waterbending peasant". I said with realization my mind began to come up with a plan...

Katara's POV

As I watched Aang practice earthbending with Toph my mind went back to my mother and the stories she would tell Sokka and I. I remember being enthralled with the stories of the Avatar and his miracles while Sokka loved the stories of our past warriors and wanted to be just like dad. I remember dad walking through the door and scooping me and Sokka up in his arms as he gave our mom a kiss and Sokka would gag and run out of the room after his friends. As I was reminiscing I heard Aang and Toph begin their daily argument I sighed and stood up ready to interfere if it got too rough. I watched as a boulder the size of a tiger-seal flew past me towards Aang he then got in defense position and smashed the boulder into smithereens.

"Nice job Twinkle-Toes"Toph said. "Thanks Toph but did you have to make it so big"? Aang asked while all I could do was laugh as I saw my brother coming towards us his traditional wolf tail was in disarray and he looked like he had ran for his life from a giant sabor-tooth moose-lion while screaming, seriously what does Suki see in him I rushed toward him following close behind was Toph and Aang. "What did you do to make it mad?" I asked "Nothing just wanted to eat its cub." He replied I silently face palmed my forehead "Why would you even think that was a good idea?" I practically yelled " I was hungry for meat!" He yelled back oh why did I have to have him as a brother? Aang and Toph took care of the sabor-tooth moose-lion as I helped my brother put his wolf tail back in place and wasn't to gentle with it "Ow Katara that hurts" Sokka said "Well maybe next time you'll think before you go for a predator" I huffed "I'm sorry I want meat" "Well next time why don't you oh I don't know go for a fish" I screamed! Sometimes I just don't get my brother.

That's the end of chapter one please leave comments vote and let me know what you think I will be doing a chapter question so please answer in the comments

Chapter 2

Sokka's POV

As my sister mercilessly pulled my hair back into its traditional warriors wolf tail I saw Toph and Aang coming towards us after scaring away the giant sabor-tooth moose-lion. Toph was looking very mad " you know Captain Boomerang next time you go for meat make sure the mom isn't nearby!" She yelled then walked away with a huff. Aang just looked at me and muttered "I thought it was fun" he said with a sigh then he too walked away. "There all done Sokka" Katara said."Finally do you know I have been sitting here for a whole five minutes" I yelled at her. "Sokka five minutes will not ruin your precious plan to defeat the firelord" she yelled back. "What are you talking about without my plan we all would be in disarray and still trying to find Aang a earthbending teacher I'm the one who suggested we look at the arena" I stated. "Oh yeah well if you never joined this team we wouldn't have to stop for all your useless plans you think your a warrior when really you're just a wannabe you will never be as great as dad Sokka you hear me never!" Katara exclaimed I couldn't take it anymore "Well I wish you had died instead of mom!" I screamed as I looked up I saw tears forming in her eyes "Katara I'm sorry I didn't mean..." "Save it Sokka" she said and ran towards the woods. "What have I done" I sighed and started to run after her when Aang stopped me and said "just give her a few minutes Sokka" I just sighed and sat next to Toph at the fire.

Katara's POV

"How could Sokka say something like that" I thought. I just wanted to get to the nearby river waterbending always cleared my head. As I was running I heard something rustling in a bush nearby I undid the water flask I always have with me and moved closer to the bush "who who's there" I demanded suddenly Momo jumped out of the bush and stared at me with big eyes as I scream and then catch my breath and sigh "oh Momo it's just you" I stated with relief in my voice. All of a sudden Momo started screeching and trying to get away "Momo what's wrong" I asked in confusion then I felt a hand clamp over my mouth and heard it the voice I feared "don't make a sound" I heard him hiss. I nodded my head yes and felt him slowly remove his hand from my mouth as soon as I heard him rustle through his bag I bolted for the camp yelling for Aang and Sokka to help me. I looked back and saw he had thrown his bag and had a fire whip in his hands with a evil glint in his eye he was running after me and he was gaining on me fast! I just kept running I saw the clearing and all I could think was I'm almost there. I had almost reached the clearing when I saw three firebenders come out of the brush. I got my water whip out and was prepared to use it when I felt him grab my hands and roughly pull them behind my back then I fell to the ground as I felt something hit my head all I could do was mutter"Sokka please help me" before I slipped into darkness...

Zuko's POV

I had done it the water peasant was mine now all I needed was proof so I removed her necklace and picked her up and carried her back to my ship. When we arrived I had my Uncle take a look at her head when he said it was fine I put her in the holding cell making sure she was tied securely and locked the door behind me. It was time to send a little message to the Avatar...

Chapter 3

Aang's POV

As we all sat around the fire waiting for Katara to come back I began to worry. I knew she was at the river that's where she always goes to cool off but she is normally back by now. Poor Sokka is so worried he rejected the fish we had found! This is so unlike him I mean he's pacing around chewing his shirt and talking to Appa like he can understand him on second thought maybe he just got ahold of some more cactus juice. "I'm going to look for Katara" I said. Sokka stopped pacing and said " good idea Aang I'll join you" we look at Toph and she just shrugged "whatever lets go find Sugar Queen" she said. As we all started walking towards the woods we saw a reddish orange glow coming from the trees. Sokka was the first to react "Katara" he screamed and took off running with us close behind. What was running through my mind only one thing Katara be safe... please.

Sokka's POV

As I saw that glow my mind immediately went to Katara and I took off running as fast as I could. All I saw was the blur of the trees as I was whizzing past them all I could think was please don't let anything happen to her. We were getting closer to the fire and I went into leader mode "Aang you handle that fire" " Toph scan the area for Katara" using her gift Toph stomped her foot against the ground absorbing the vibrations. As I waited for her verdict I watched Aang as he struggled to put out the fire. I ran towards the river with a water flask in hand I knew it wasn't much but Aang needed all the help he could get. Toph ran over to us and raised up some platforms of earth. Eliminating some of Aang's target as he put out the fire I saw something shimmering " I'll be right back" I said. I walked towards the shimmer,as I got closer I fell to my knees my entire body had gone numb. I saw on a rock not two feet in front of me was my mother's necklace. The necklace that Katara never took off...

Uh oh what happened to Katara? Will she be found or will Zuko get away with his devious plan? You'll just have to wait and see evil smile comment,vote,follow

Chapter 4

Katara's POV

I opened my eyes and saw nothing just a vastness of white. I started walking trying to get my bearings. I knew I wasn't with Zuko or Aang,so where was I? Up ahead I saw a figure I began running towards it. When I got close enough to see their face I stopped... the face I saw was one that used to tuck me into bed and kiss me goodnight, the face I saw was "Mom" I said with disbelief.

"Katara" she said with a smile on her face " I've missed you" she ran towards me and wrapped me in her arms. How many times did I wish for this moment, to have her back?

"Mom why are you here?" I asked.

"Katara from the moment you were born I knew that you were destined to do things that no other Southern water bender could." Katara you have a gift that no other water bender has had." "Katara you have the ability to heal yourself and others." "You need to use this ability on one of your friends they will need you,Katara remember I love you and am always with you." She started to vanish and I began to awaken. As I woke I looked around and saw the cold metal walls of the fire nation ships. I got up to look around and felt something pull me back. I looked back and saw I was chained to a pole. I heard the door open and saw him Prince Zuko of the fire nation the person who has been hunting Aang since we freed him from the ice.

"What do you want" I asked malice spicing my voice.

"You are going to take me to the Avatar and I will regain my honor!" he yelled at me. I just looked crossed my arms and turned away from him using what Sokka called "the child in me". It got the reaction I wanted I heard him stomping towards me and felt his hands grip mine" you will treat me with respect" he seethed.

"I will treat you with what I believe you deserve which is nothing" I yelled back. I saw him getting even more outraged I smiled because my plan was working. I suddenly felt a stinging sensation in my cheek he had slapped me!

Toph's POV

As I sat around I sighed, things just weren't the same without Sugar Queen around. I felt Sokka lying around probably staring at her necklace and Twinkle Toes was around the corner doing whatever it was he did at this time. Twinkle Toes still practices earthbending but he is so worried about her that he can't even move a pebble. For the first few days all we did was search the river,the woods you name it nothing no sign of the Sugar Queen. "I'm so bored" I exclaimed it was true I had already picked my toes twice, I looked around and felt Sokka jump up suddenly, my interest peaked " what is it Sokka" I asked.

"There's something on the necklace" he replied "here take a look" he said I just gave him the look then heard him say "bad suggestion."

"What is it Captain Boomerang?" I asked.

"A piece of red fabric, do you know what this means?" he asked.

"Katara was kidnapped by the fire nation" I said.

"Yes!" he exclaimed. "Now I know where to look" he said with a smile on his face. I felt Twinkle Toes come zooming around the corner a smile on his face as well.

"What's up Twinkle Toes?" I asked.

"I was meditating when Roku's spirit came to me, he told me where Katara is" he said excitedly. we waited for him to continue.

"Well where is she?" Sokka finally asked.

"What oh yeah she's on Zuko's ship" he told us.

"Great let's to get her" said Sokka.

"Hold up Captain Boomerang we can't go in there without a plan" I stated.

"Toph's right" said Aang.

"I am?" I questioned.

"Yeah it will be heavily guarded I should know I was captive there" Aang added.

"Yeah good point" Sokka said " Aang do you think you could remember where they held you?" he asked.

"Sure thing Sokka" Aang said enthusiastically.

"Great Toph how is your metalbending coming?" he asked me.

"I'm much better now" I replied proudly.

"Great here's the plan Toph you'll get us in and help me take out the firebenders while Aang finds Katara sound good?" he asked with hope in his eyes.

"Sounds great Sokka" Aang said. I felt their gaze turn to me while they waited for my answer. I just smiled loving the torture I was putting Sokka through.

"Let's go get our Sugar Queen back" I said while pumping my fist in the air.

Chapter question: what would you rather have earth bending, fire bending,air bending, or water bending? I would rather have water bending because I love the water!

Ill update soon peace out

This is Not an update

I apologize for the wait I have put you through. I have chapter 5 written I just need to transfer it from my computer to my phone. I haven't ha the time to and I hope I can get it up right away. Once again I apologize for the wait.

Chapter 5

Sokka's POV

As I was grabbing all the tools necessary for rescuing Katara I realized I was missing something but what? "Ah" I exclaimed as I began to rummage through my stuff " where could it be?" I asked myself. As I threw aside yet another pair of dirty clothes I found it, I felt my eyes start to water as I held the object in my hands was...my trusty boomerang! I felt a rush of air blow my door open I sighed " what is it Aang?" I asked.

"SokkaIjustgotthisletteranditisfromthefirenation" he replied.

" Aang can you repeat that only slower?" I asked

" Sokka I just got this letter and it is from the fire nation" he repeated.

"Well what does it say?" I asked rather impatiently.

"Here see for yourself" he said as he handed me the letter. I took it from his hands and started to read, by the time I had finished reading I was infuriated how dare he use my little sister as a bargaining chip! "Um Sokka what are we going to do?" Aang asked me.

"I'll tell you what we're going to do" I said with a big smile on my face "we're going to get my sister back!" I exclaimed.

"Yeah but how are we going to do that?" Aang asked.

"I'm glad you asked that Aang, we're going to use the same plan just a different location." As we gathered all our stuff and climbed on Appa I looked at my wrist where I kept Katara's necklace "please be alright" I pleaded as we slipped off into the night.

Katara's POV

As I began to comprehend what he had done I grew infuriated, before I understood what was happening I had begun to throw my fist forward and felt satisfaction when I heard a crack most likely his nose breaking. I just walked over to the pole to which I was tied to and sat down on the pillow on the ground while I listened to him moan in pain and yell for the guards. When the guards finally showed up and saw the disarray their prince was in they were shocked they looked at me with disbelief. I just smiled sweetly like nothing was wrong, as they helped Zuko to his feet he pushed them away and headed for the door when he opened it I saw a chubby old man with his hand in mid-knock. I believe he was startled to see Zuko in this position and I had to resist the urge to shout how does it feel to have the shoe on the other foot. He led Zuko away and I was left alone once again. I sighed and looked to the heavens and said "Sokka please hurry."

Authors note

I am so sorry for the long wait. I hope you guys will never have to wait this long again. Once again I apologize for the wait. On the bright side yay Iroh is here!!!

Chapter question: what is your favorite Sokka moment?

Mine would have to be either when he is dresses as a Kyoshi warrior or when he and Momo drink the cactus juice.

Hope to hear from you soon peace out!

Chapter 6

Zuko's POV

"How dare that that peasant touch me, a prince of the Fire Nation!" I said as I held a cloth to my nose to stop the bleeding.

"Nephew do you need any help?" I heard my uncle say.

I sighed "yes uncle the bleeding won't stop" I said mildly embarrassed. As he grabbed the cloth and put slight pressure on it I winced man could she punch I thought.

"You know nephew maybe next time we should grab the brother instead of the sister" he said with a laugh.

I joined in and added "maybe you're right uncle." "I mean he seems to be even weaker then her". I said with a laugh. As soon as those words escapes my mouth I heard the alarms begin to blare. "They are here" I said grimly.

Aang's POV

"Finally we are here" I said as the giant ship came into view "don't worry Katara we are coming for you" I said in a determined tone.

"Finally I'm ready to kick some fire nation butt!" Toph exclaimed. I looked back at Sokka an saw he was just staring at her necklace I gulped he had been like this since we mounted Appa. I was really worried about him he was devastated about Katara he thinks it was his fault. As we touched down we were immediately surrounded by fire benders Toph jumped off of Appa and when she did the metal crunched beneath her feet. She threw her fist in the metal and sent the firebenders flying, she whipped around with a large smile on her face "all yours Twinkle Toes" she said.

"Thanks Toph" I replied as I sent a wave of air over the second set of soldiers. I rushed up next to one grabbed his shirt and said "where is the water bender?" I demanded.

"Like I would tell you Avatar!" He spat.

" I didn't want to do this, but you have left me no choice" I replied. "He is all yours Sokka." I said. All of a sudden Sokka jumped down from Appa grabbed the firebender and started to hit him over the head with his boomerang.

"Where is my sister?" He yelled.

"Okay okay I'll talk I'll talk" he cried.

"He's all yours Aang" Sokka stated.

"Thanks Sokka, now you're going to take us to the water bender." I demanded. He shook his head rapidly and ran down the hall with us closely behind.

"Straight down that hall first door on your left" he said.

"Doesn't it have to be unlocked?" I asked.

"No it is only locked from the outside and after the fiasco we left it unlocked" he said.

"Okay let's go" I said as we headed down the hall. When we reached the door I left Toph do her thing and opened the door. When I opened it I saw Katara jump up with fear in her eyes. That fear quickly turned to relief as she saw us.

"Aang" I heard her say as she rushed forward but was quickly pulled back and for the first time I saw she was chained to a pole! I saw her face tighten with pain.

"Katara what's wrong?" I asked.

"I think that I dislocated my wrist when I rushed forward." She said with a grimace. as Sokka undid her chains and hugged her I saw his face get redder and redder.

"What's wrong Sokka?" I asked. Then I saw it one side of her face was swollen! "Katara who did that to you?" I seethed.

"Z-Zuko" she stammered.

"I'll kill him!" Sokka exclaimed. "Where is he how dare he hurt my baby sister!" he yelled. Katara grabbed his arm and whispered something in his ear. After that Sokka relaxed and gave her a hug.

"Let's go" I said. As we walked out the door we came face to face with the one person I didn't want to see... Zuko!

Authors Note

I know that this chapter is late and I apologize but hope you enjoy it.

Chapter question: what is your favorite Legend Of Korra episode?

I can't choose probably when Korra meets Wan.

Chapter 7

Iroh's POV

I stood firmly by my nephew as we stood in between the door and the avatar and his friends. I looked at Zuko and saw he had a steely look in his face, all I can think is this isn't my nephew. I knew Ursa wouldn't want her son to be like this. "Surrender yourself Avatar and I'll let your friends go unharmed... well mostly." I heard my nephew say.

"N-No Aang d-don't d-do it!" I heard the water bender say.

"What choice do I have Katara?" the avatar questioned. "Someone has to make him pay for hurting you." He stated.

"What can you do that she didn't try Avatar?" Zuko asked with a smirk.

"How about this." the Avatar replied as his eyes started to glow. He rushed forward and grabbed Zuko by his collar and pulled him close "look at her do you see what you did to her!' He yelled. I have never seen my nephew that scared before, but Zuko hides his fear well his face remained stoic. He pushed the Avatar away and took a battle position.

" Are you afraid to attack me without your avatar state?" Zuko said. I knew what he was doing, he was trying to get the avatar off center and make his attacks useless. It was a good plan except for the avatar being a air nomad, they were taught how to keep their mind clear under rough circumstances. "Do you know why I took her Avatar?' Zuko asked. "I took her because the best way to break someone is by taking the one they love away." he stated. As soon as he said that he shifted his focus on the water bender let loose a torrent of fire. Her eyes widened with fear, and due to the four days she was here she couldn't move, her friends weren't anywhere near her. A piercing scream was the next thing I heard everyone turned towards her and what I saw made my heart drop! Her hands were charred all the way up her arms until her armpits, and she also had very burnt feet and was unconscious! Her brother rushed forward picked her up and cradled her.

"Zuko this has gone far enough." I stated.

"But Uncle?" he questioned.

"Your uncle is right Zuko she needs treatment please let us leave." The Avatar pleaded. I looked at my nephew and saw remorse cross his face I hope he does the right thing I thought.

"Fine go" he said. "Before I change my mind hurry." He said a little more rushed the Avatar and his friends rushed past and got on their sky bison and took off.

"I'm proud of you Zuko you did the right thing." I said proudly.

"Uncle it was so hard to let them go, how did you do it in Ba Sing Se?" He asked.

"It wasn't easy, but then again the best choices aren't." I replied.

"Uncle I just want to go home." he sobbed into my shoulder.

"I know nephew I know". I replied sadly.

Aang's POV

I urged Appa to go faster, I whipped my head around to look at Katara she was so pale her normally tan skin looked like glass! "Faster buddy faster!" I said frantically. Sokka looked at me with worry in his eyes.

"You can help her right Aang?" he asked frantically.

"I'll do everything I can Sokka." I promised. I heard Appa roar as I focused my attention on the sky again, we were right above the camp! I landed Appa quickly and rushed Katara into a tent, as soon as we entered she stirred and regained consciousness.

"A-ang it h-hurts." she cried.

"I know Katara I know." I replied.

"W-water" she pleaded.

"Sokka bring her some water." I said . He came running in with a flask in hand and gave it to me, I quickly placed it by Katara, and she moved her arms painfully until the water covered them. "What are you doing?" I asked. she just gritted her teeth and the water began to glow! Her face relaxed and she sighed with relief as the burn disappeared. "How did you do that?" I asked.

" I found out I have a gift, the gift of healing." she replied.

"Did you heal all your wounds?" I questioned.

"No just the burns, because they hurt the worst." She stated. "Hey Aang?" She asked.

"Yeah" I replied.

"Am I home?" She questioned.

I smiled and said "yes Katara you're home" I replied.

Author's note

Well this book is done! I hope you all enjoyed reading it because I loved writing it. I would appreciate comments to help my writing get better, and would like to thank you for reading!
